

Every Life a Struggle Between Good and Bad Impulses, Asserts Dr. Gardiner Before Ministers

A striking paper on "Duality in Life" as illustrated by the novel, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," by Robert Louis Stevenson, was given Monday morning by Rev. James L. Gardiner of the St. Paul M. E. church at the first regular meeting of the new year of the Ministerial Association.

"The fact of duality in life is a truth of divine revelations," said Dr. Gardiner. "There are two natures in man, the fleshly and the spiritual; the fleshly is the one that which would lead a man downward; the spiritual is man's higher nature, it is that which would make a man like God."

"In every man a continual conflict between these two natures is on. In every person this war is continually going on. Paul describes it in the seventh chapter of Romans. He himself passed through this fearful struggle, but by the grace of Christ he won."

"But not every man is victorious. Dr. Jekyll failed in life's great tug of war." Here Dr. Gardiner gave a graphic description of the conflict

"NEVER GIVE UP" IS NO HYMN FOR OFFERTORY

The decorum of the Saturday evening prayer meeting at the City mission was severely disturbed by an occurrence incident to the taking up of the collection.

"While the collection is being taken up," announced Rev. Ray Bird, "let us sing a hymn. Will someone please suggest a number?"

"Number 73," called a young man in the audience.

Rev. Mr. Bird turned the pages of the hymn book till he came to No. 73. His expression became serious and he looked up.

"Young man," he said, "do you know what you are saying? The name of that hymn is 'Never Give Up'—scarcely opportune for the present moment. I suggest rather that we sing, 'Lord We Give Up All.'"

LOCAL MEN AND WOMEN ENTERTAIN PRISONERS

The prisoners at Michigan City had an unusual treat Saturday afternoon when they were entertained by Mrs. Ernest Morris, Miss Helen Holland, both of South Bend, and Miss Gertrude Hampton of Fowler, Ind., the latter being students at St. Mary's college.

After the 1,200 prisoners had marched and taken their places, they sat perfectly still, filled with expectation, as it was the first performance of its kind the prisoners ever witnessed. The stage was attractively decorated in drawing room fashion, to give an informal appearance.

The program, selected to fit the occasion, consisted of humorous readings and vocal selections by Mrs. Morris, violin solos by Miss Hampton, and piano solos by Miss Holland.

The performers seemed inspired by the enthusiastic audience that greeted them. A more appreciative audience could not be found. It was interesting to note the waves of mirth that swept the audience during the humorous readings, and that of regret and sadness as the strains of the violin, voice and piano filled the hall. The applause was instantaneous as well as continuous.

Warden Fogarty, to whom the prisoners owe the pleasure of the occasion, and his sister, entertained the guests at a 6 o'clock dinner at which other guests, among whom were Mrs. Sarah Jones of Fowler, Ind., and Miss Mildred Crull of Osceola. Mr. and Mrs. William Holland and E. M. Morris of South Bend were present.

REPORT SHOWS WARNER HAD BUSIEST YEAR AS JUDGE OF CITY COURT

Miss Naomi Sleeper, 709 Vista av., was arraigned in city court Monday morning accused of defrauding a board bill, for which Mr. and Mrs. Ira V. Hopkins were creditors. The girl alleged that she was only 16 years old and that she had been married, but that her marriage had been annulled. Her case was transferred to Juvenile Officer Miller's court. She was placed under $25 bond.

Firemen Called to First Baptist as Services Are Ended.

Attendants at the evening service at the First Baptist church were treated to their weekly thrill last night, the central theme being arriving just as the congregation was passing out. Dense clouds of smoke pouring from the chimney caused some person to turn in an alarm, there being no blaze.

CAR KILLS COIT.

The Northern Indiana interurban car which leaves South Bend at 6 o'clock and passes through Lydick, struck and killed a coit belonging to Elmer Stroup, who lives near the Lydick school house. According to Mr. Stroup the coit was valued at $125.

COMPANY CONTROL REMAINS THE SAME

Judge Funk Sustains Motion of Representatives of Fabric
Roll Protector Co.

Judge Funk has sustained the motion of representatives of the Fabric Roll Protector Co. to have the petition of the Citizens' Loan, Trust & Savings Co. dismissed. The action of the court was taken Monday morning. The trust company, as trustees under the will of George Loughman, had sought to secure control of the fabric roll company. It was alleged by the trust company that even though they were represented on the board of directors of the Fabric roll company, the trust company was not legally a member of the board. It was claimed that they had the right to control because they held in trust a majority of the stock of the company. The motion to dismiss the petition was made in behalf of Mrs. Martin Loughman, J. S. Chandler and Fred J. Loughman. They held that the company was doing well and they charged the trust company with desiring to secure control merely for the purpose of securing fat jobs for relatives. The court held that the corporation was prospering under the present management and that it was apparent from the way in which George Loughman had permitted the minority to participate that he did not intend to exclude them by his will. It was pointed out that it would be a disaster if through the interference of the court, or in any manner, men of less ability and not so high minded, should possibly be enabled to sometime secure control of the Fabric Roll Protector Co.

BECOMES INCORPORATED
